Kleberg County Adult Literacy Council

A Bit of History

The Kleberg County Adult Literacy Council (KCALC) is a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization servicing the Kleberg-Kenedy County area. We were established by members of the Kingsville Woman's Club, and began as a totally volunteer-driven organization on October 13, 1986. We are located in the book room of the R.J. Kleberg Public Library, and we provide services in public buildings within the community.

Mission Statement

The Kleberg County Adult Literacy Council, a non-profit organization, believes all adults should be able to speak, read, and write in the English language. To that end, we provide individualized and/or group instruction for adults aged eighteen and older, with limited reading, writing, and/or English-speaking skills.

Statement of Problem

According to the National Institute for Literacy, 27% of Kleberg-Kenedy County's adult population demonstrated skills in the lowest level (Level I) in prose, document and quantitative proficiencies. Additionally, 26% performed at Level II, translating into 53% of our adult population unable to read and comprehend warning labels on cleaning supplies, enter background information on social security applications or balance a checkbook.

Tutoring

KCALC provides both group and individualized instruction. Therefore, the tutor may choose to commit to an individual student or work with a group of students.

- Conversational English classes and Intermediate/Advanced English-As-A-Second Language (ESL) classes are held every Tuesday and Thursday from 8:30-10:30am at the Community Life Center (123 Fifth Street). The classes run from September to May, following the local school calendar.
- Our Pre-GED program is held twice a week at the Coastal Bend College, during the months of September through May, following the school calendar.
- Individualized tutoring is up to the volunteer tutor and their student. KCALC encourages meetings to be held in public places at least two hours per week for a minimum of six months.
